The student's journey on Thinkera

— 10 pages

Your journey on Thinkera in six steps

 All of Unit 1 is free

Start at thinkera.academy: lessons unlock in order, each one leads to the next, and the instructor is with you all the way.

From the site to your first lesson

Every screen tells you where to carry on

My learning: your home

- Shall we carry on? in a card of its own color, the first thing you see.
- Its Continue the lesson button sits beside the text, not under it.
- Your numbers and your activity fold behind an icon you open when you want them.
- Your courses below, each with the percentage you finished.

Your path through the course

- The lessons take the page's full width, so nothing is squeezed.
- Up next sits in a card of its own, its button beside the text.
- Every lesson shows its three steps, with a done mark on what you finished.
- Live sessions fold behind their own icon, with a pulsing dot when a session is live now.

My progress

- Your completion as a percentage: one number that tells you where you are.
- A distinct Continue card naming the lesson, just like the one on My learning.
- Numbers and activity fold behind an icon, so the lessons stay in front of you.
- And the sets worth reviewing: where your score was low.

Every step's icon is a door

On the course page, click a lesson's Lesson files icon and that lesson's list of files opens straight away.

Three steps a lesson, three practice levels

1

The explanation

A video in Egyptian Arabic with the book's terms as they are, and Arabic or English subtitles.

2

Lesson files

Several files for one lesson: read them on the page, download them, print them.

3

Practice

The lesson's questions at three levels, each showing how many questions it has.

Three levels that climb the thinking levels (Bloom)

1

Simple

Definitions and basic facts.
Mostly remember and understand.

2

Intermediate

Understanding, applying, exam-style questions.

Between Simple and Advanced.

3

Advanced

Exam-style questions that need deeper thinking.

Analyze, evaluate, create.

You always know where you are

Above the lesson are its three steps, with a done mark on the ones you finished; Next takes you to the following step.

Lesson files: read, download, print

1

The explanation booklet

The lesson written out in full, for anything the video passed over quickly.

2

The lesson summary

The key points in a few pages, for a quick review before practice or an exam.

3

Tips and tricks

A sheet of the mistakes students often make, for the lessons that have one.

It opens right there on the page

- Open the file: you read it on the page without leaving the lesson.
- Download: take the file with you and study offline.
- Print: print it and study on paper.

Two ways in

- From inside the lesson: the Lesson files step, between The explanation and Practice.
- From the course page: click the step's icon on any lesson and its files open.

One lesson may hold several files; they are all in this list.

Your result at once

Once you submit you see your result, and every answer explains why it is right or wrong.

Essay questions

You write the answer yourself, in your own words.

The instructor grades it

Next to a model answer and marking guide, with a mark and a comment in your result.
The set counts as done once you submit.

Every attempt

Drawn at random: 12, 13 or 10 questions, by level.

Your paper is not your classmate's

Different questions each time, so you practice rather than memorize answers.

Your progress, your questions, your sessions

My progress

- How much you finished as a percentage, and a Continue card for your next lesson.
- Lessons done, practice average, last visit.
- Every lesson by step, with your score at each level.
- Worth reviewing: practice sets with a low score, and Try again.

Your instructor sees the same page, so they know where you need help.

I have a question

- From the course page or inside a lesson; it reaches the instructor with the lesson's name.
- The reply reaches your email and your notifications.
- My questions: each one marked Waiting for an answer or Answered.
- From students' questions: model answers, with no student's name.

Live sessions

- The invitation reaches your email and notifications.
- Join from the browser, phone or computer, with nothing to install.
- Sessions are recorded and the recording is kept, to watch whenever you want.
- Request a session: choose the topic and a time that suits you.

Private sessions are paid.

The bell at the top

The instructor's reply, session invitations and any change to them, and your curriculum unlocking: all arrive in your notifications.

Your notifications, preferences and payments

Notifications

- Your studying: your grades, your marked practice, and a new lesson.
- Your access: your payment accepted, and access ending soon.
- Your account: a new sign-in, and any personal message.
- They reach you on the platform, in your email, and on WhatsApp.

And a weekly reminder whose day and time you choose.

My preferences

- Platform language: buttons and menus in Arabic or in English.
- Video subtitles: Arabic, English, or none.
- Text size: normal, large or larger, and the buttons grow with it.

The lessons are always narrated in Egyptian Arabic; what you choose here is the subtitle track.

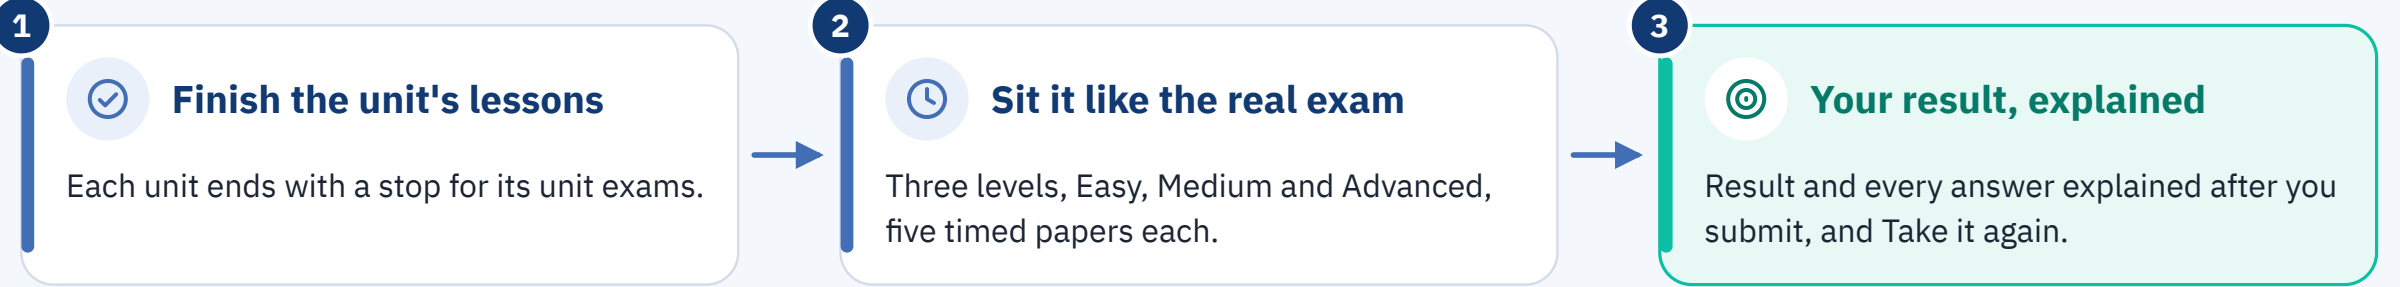

My payments

- Everything you paid: curricula and private sessions.
- The status of each one: in review, or approved.
- The invoice and the payment notice as PDFs, to download whenever you like.
- And filters by date and by type.

We send no advertising

Every notice is about your account or your lessons, and you choose where it reaches you.

Unit exams and the full curriculum

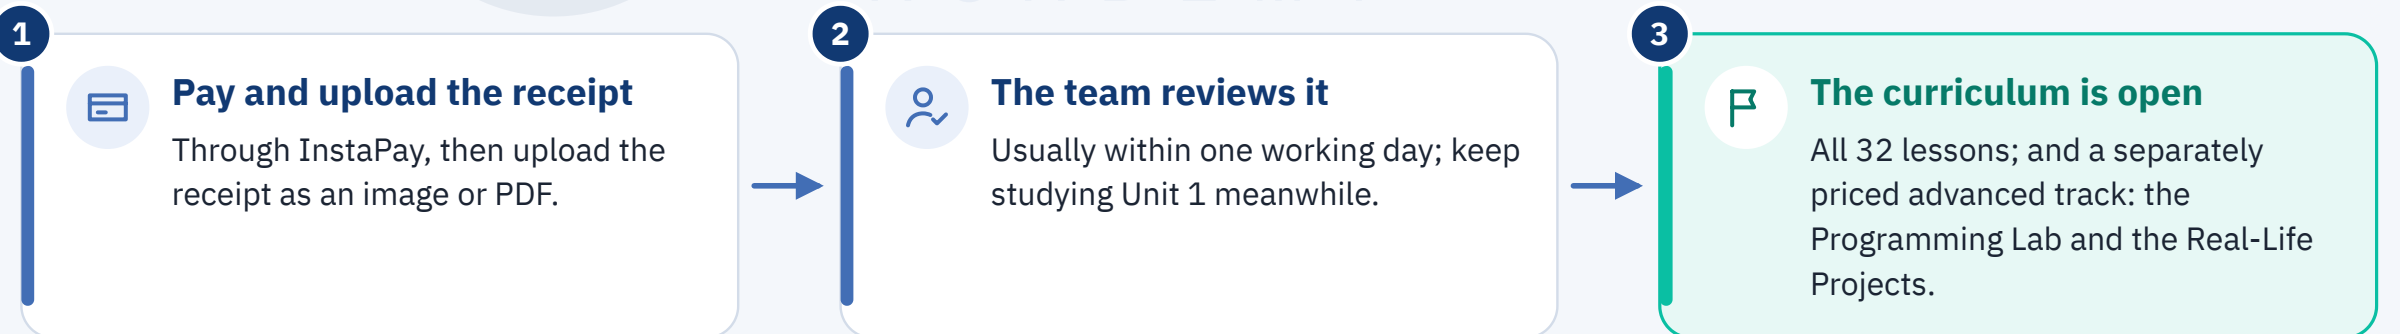

Your questions are drawn at random

Questions are drawn from the unit's question bank, across all its lessons; every new attempt is different.
